Colonization.

A correspondent at St Helens informs us, that an active Democrat in Columbia county, for the sake of securing a party triumph, has imported a number of men, whose votes he expects to use for that purpose at the election We also learn that the same dodge is to be tried in Polk county, and that a delegation started from this city for Dallas last week, who stated before they left, that they were to be paid $40 00 each and boarded for becoming voters in Polk, and trying to defeat the Union ticket Now, while this species of fraud may not be in violation of law, it cannot fail to show to all fair minded and just men, that our opponents are ready and willing to resort to the most base and disgraceful tricks which political knavery can devise, for the sake of resisting and overcoming the will of the people Can any honest Democrat approve or justify such an act? Is it not a confession of weakness and shame, which should consign any party, committing it, to infamy? We do not—we cannot believe that any respectable or honorable man would participate in such a scheme it must be the work of political gamblers, who have no respect for the integrity of our free institutions, and who would buy votes without scruple, or murder men to stop their opposition We warn those, who thus seek to defraud the people, that their devices are known and understood, and they may be sure, that a day of vengeance for our outrage upon the popular will, must swiftly overtake them They are playing the same game on a small scale which was resorted to in Kansas, and which so thoroughly aroused the indignation of every honest man in the Union Let them be wise in time, or they may come to grief and eternal disgrace

THE LATEST NEWS —Our long dispatch this morning contains a great variety of intelligence The war news will of course most deeply interest all our readers, and though it seems that the Federal losses have been very severe in the long continued conflicts not yet finished, yet success has crowned nearly every movement made by Grant, Butler, Sherman and all our commanders The whole Nation anxiously waits the result of the impending great battle, which it seems to us could hardly be postponed beyond to day, if indeed, it has not already been fought

The political news shows that the Government is exercising a more vigilant discipline towards those who aid and abet treason than heretofore Certainly it is high time, while our brave soldiers are wounded and dying daily by thousands, that public sentiment should not be polluted and outraged by such atrocious attacks upon the Government and upon patriotism, as of late, have disgraced newspapers calling themselves Democratic We are in favor always of free speech and free press, but when freedom becomes only licentious, and under its cloak, assassins and traitors seek to destroy the Republic, they should be put where their bad temper and worse ambition will be harmless

STILL IN SYMPATHY WITH TRAITORS —A dispatch from Eugene City dated Saturday evening, informs us that General Lane spoke two hours in that town in the afternoon, and reaffirmed his speech in the Senate, made in March 1861 It will be recollected how in that speech he justified secession, denounced coercion, and declared his readiness to resist on behalf of the South, any and all efforts on the part of the Government to maintain its authority by force We had hoped and supposed that he had grown wiser by this time, and would not now coolly approve what he then said, when greatly excited, and smarting under the influence of defeat as a Democratic candidate It is more in sorrow than in anger that we are called upon to notice his persistent and bitter hostility to a Government, which has honored him much more than his merits have deserved, and which he knows as well as any one, has an imperative claim upon his allegiance and fidelity Base party purposes have degraded him they have made him a traitor, when he ought to have been a patriot, and to have won a noble fame by serving his country. He is joined to his infamous idols let him alone.

RESACA, Ga, May 16—On the 12th nearly the whole army was in motion towards Snake Creek 15 miles south of Buzzard Roost Howard's Wood's and Stanley's divisions were left there to attend to the enemy in front of Dalton On Friday morning, May 13th, the bulk of our forces were assembled in Sugar Valley at the mouth of the Gap while the cavalry had commenced operations During the day the army was occupied in deploying from the Gap and getting into position Heavy skirmishing took place, Harrell's division of Logan's corps meeting with considerable loss By night, the enemy's position was fully developed

Resaca is situated on a great bend of the old Oostanaula river, the convex towards the east. Across the neck of the peninsula there was a continuous line of defenses, with a long line of fortifications Both rebel flanks rested on the river Their line of retreat was thus completely protected

On Friday night, 13th our army was in position around the rebel works, except the division which afterwards occupied Dalton on the 14th, and were sweeping down in line of Altona and Western Railroad to form a junction with the rest of the army

On Saturday skirmishing began in the morning and continued incessantly throughout the day At about 2 o clock, it was especially severe on the left of the 15th corps Many of our men were picked off by sharpshooters About noon Howard effected a junction with the rest of the army, and the whole of our forces were in position General Howard having the extreme left, Schofield the next then Hooker Palmer, Hong and Wood, with two divisions of the 16th corps being on the extreme right Such changes were subsequently made as movements of the enemy and the execution of our own demanded, but generally our line remained as stated

At 1 P M, an attempt was made to break the centre of the enemy's line or at least capture his outer works Judah's division of Schofield's corps and Newton's division of Howard's corps moved forward and succeeded after a desperate conflict, in compelling them to abandon the position of their outer lines We did not continue to hold this, but our own line was somewhat advanced Our artillery prevented the rebels from occupying it. A portion of Johnson's division of Palmer's corps while attempting to charge the rebel front were compelled to throw themselves down an almost perpendicular bank wade a creek waist deep, and then to retire across a valley fully exposed to the fire from the rebel works

It was now discovered that the enemy was moving heavy forces up the Resaca and Fulton road for the obvious purpose of turning our left flank Gen Hooker was sent to checkmate this movement. Before he arrived, the rebels had thrown themselves with an immense dash upon Craft's brigade of Stanley's division and forced it, after a splendid resistance, to abandon the hill upon which it was posted, and retire in considerable confusion The rebels advanced and were met by a murderous fire of grape and cannister from our batteries At the same time a portion of Hooker's corps took possession of both sides of the valley, and Crafts' broken brigade rallied The rebels were repulsed with great slaughter The conflict ceased at night

In the meantime the battle commenced upon the right A portion of Logan's corps charged the line of rebel rifle pits a little to the right of Resaca and carried them. This was in the evening Afterwards the rebels were massed in large force, and attempted to recapture their works After a struggle the rebels retreated, leaving the hillside covered with their dead and wounded

On Sunday morning the firing was renewed, Not anything of importance occurred until 1 P M when Hooker's corps which now occupied the left—Palmer, Howard and Schofield having been shifted towards the right to fill the gap occasioned by Hooker's withdrawal—charged the enemy's line and succeeded in driving them in Our men, however, were exposed to a deadly fire from the enemy's works and compelled to withdraw Notwithstanding this withdrawal our line had advanced to what was then their first parallel line.

For some reason unknown, the enemy thought it best to retire, and on Sunday night evacuated with their entire army leaving only three guns and some stores of meat and corn behind

Early this morning we started in pursuit of Johnson's troops—by this time across Our loss is estimated at 3,400 killed wounded and missing The enemy's loss is 2,000 killed and wounded, and 700 prisoners

Hooker was slightly wounded Kilpatrick painfully and it is feared mortally wounded Seven pieces of artillery were captured

The enemy have made no attempt to interfere with our communications, except by burning the depot at Madison and west of Huntsville

NEW YORK May 18—The Tribune's special says The enemy still lies southwest of Spottsylvania Full supplies to our forces are kept up. There will be no delay on account of Breckinridge's and other rebel forces having joined Lee for they are kept busy guarding his communications

The Tribune's correspondent with Sigel estimates the loss of the rebels in the recent fight at 1 000.

A special to the Times dated Headquarters Army of the Potomac, May 18th says The struggle has this moment begun with skirmishing on our right We fully expect a great and bloody fight and we trust a decisive battle

NEW YORK May 18—A correspondent with Butler gives a detailed account of Beauregard's attack on our forces at Palmer's Creek On the 16th the entire length of the rebel lines opened with artillery Shells poured upon our position in showers A dense fog enveloped the country at the time and both armies were wrapped in a misty veil

This was the condition of affairs, when the rebels massing their troops attacked our right under Hickman, enveloped its right flank and took it in the rear The first blow was dealt with terrific force Hickman's brigade of the 18th corps holding the right, was doubled up and forced back on the next brigade, which was also thrown into confusion Our men did not observe until then a column passing between Hickman's right and the river Taking him in the front and rear they pressed him between the columns and for a time threw him into some confusion Hickman made a gallant fight as long as he could but the enemy came upon him so suddenly and in such overwhelming numbers that a successful resistance was impossible Some of his brigade were captured After having forced back the right, a heavy attack was made on the entire line of the 18th corps up for a front along the front of the 10th corps The entire right was forced back some distance The battle raged with unchecked fury the rebels throwing heavy masses upon us and finally forcing us back, nearly a quarter of a mile Our men fought stubbornly and repeatedly charged the rebel advance with terrible slaughter—but not without some loss on our side

The enemy numbered not less than 15 000 and rushed into our murderous fire with a reckless ness and steadiness scarcely to be believed We lost four guns Finally, after forcing the 18th corps back from its position and carrying a portion of our first line of entrenchments the enemy massed a force on the 10th corps to drive it back First hurling their column upon Turner's division, which held the right of the 18th corps and they moved steadily on Barton's brigade holding the right of Turner's division—advancing as on parade, our men did not fire a single shot, but waiting until the enemy reached an effective range, they poured into the rebel lines with terrific effect The line moved away and the broken column after vainly endeavoring to advance fell with terrible loss to their works in the rear With great exertion the line of attack again formed, and again they advanced in splendid style against our lines Again did they receive a terrific fire but they pushed steadily on till one fourth of them were killed and wounded when they broke and rushed quickly to cover of woods. After this bloody repulse they hurled column after column on Hawley's brigade of Terry's division They came up in the same steady confident manner, but were received by more rapid and equally deadly fire by our forces They then broke and ran for the woods, and were accelerated in their flight by murderous shot and shell

They seemed determined however to break our line and [illegible] front its position Reformed and reinforced they again after 10 minutes got to work but were precipitately driven back at all points thus ending a vigorous effort on their part to force our position and leaving their dead and wounded to the number of 1 000 on the field.

They then massed upon Smith's position and attacked his left. Gilmore immediately ordered Turner to attack on the flank and ordered Terry to support him Turner's attack had hardly commenced before Gillmore was ordered by Gen Butler to retire and to strengthen Smith's corps by forming in his rear

Our troops fell back slowly and in order repulsing every attempt of the rebels to hasten our movements and making a stand at every favorable position until the enemy ceased to follow and fell back to their first lines of entrenchments The fighting which had been going on along the entire line, now ceased At half past two, preparations were made to withdraw our forces from the field and return to the entrenchments All the artillery was sent to the rear except that employed to cover the retreat and guard ambulances with wounded The supply trains were dispatched to the rear and finally the entire army fell back the enemy not pursuing

The same correspondent says of Kurtz's raid on the Richmond and Danville Railroad, that he tore up several miles of the track destroyed rails and blew up the iron bridge over the Appomattox at Mattox Station Sheridan's forces again started on a raid around Richmond on the 16th The cavalry will keep the railroad communication to Richmond cut for awhile

Another correspondent of the Herald says that Butler's forces are safely within the intrenchments, and are able to withstand any force the rebels can bring against them The object of Butler's making the advance on City Point and Bermuda Hundred was to create a diversion in favor of Grant and he was successful

NEW YORK May 19—Richmond papers of the 16th acknowledge that Lee met with a defeat on Thursday the 12th, and state that the slaughter was terrible No particulars were known The papers add that Jeff Davis had received dispatches from Lee which had been kept secret

Gen Kurtz cavalry is now moving on Roanoke Station, with the intention of destroying the great iron bridge over Staunton river

If successful they will return by City Point and prevent any efforts to repair the destroyed bridges on the Petersburg & Weldon Railroad

CAIRO May 18th—It is reported that a partial blockade of the Arkansas river below Little Rock been effected Preparations are being made to blockade White river also It is believed that General Canby will attend to these matters soon

NEW YORK May 19—In the late capture of Yazoo City the rebels are said to have been badly worsted and lost heavily in killed and wounded The future movements of McArthur are unknown.

Gen Banks has been ordered to New Orleans

An arrival from Duval's Bluff reports that the rebels have erected a battery on White river at South Bend, Several Federal gunboats above that point dare not attempt to pass

BOSTON May 19th—Nathaniel Hawthorne, the author died to day

CHICAGO May 19—The New York World and Journal of Commerce published yesterday morning what purported to be a proclamation from the President appointing a day of humiliation and prayer, also calling for 400,000 troops

The second edition of the World says the World, in common with other city papers, was made the victim of a malicious hoax by some scoundrel who writing a manifold copy for the associate press, and sent to all papers The Herald printed a large edition but discovered the hoax in time to suppress it

The World and Journal of Commerce are under seizure by the Provost Guard for this publication in consequence of which neither office published papers to-day

The offices of the Independent Telegraph Line at New York, Philadelphia and Washington are closed The reason is supposed to be the transmission of bogus documents from Washington Several persons have been arrested to day and will be tried by a military tribunal for having treasonably attempted to give aid and comfort to the enemy

Gold which closed Tuesday night at 179 opened at 184 under the influence, doubtless of the bogus proclamation

The steamer which left at noon yesterday for Europe in all probability, took copies out of the proclamation but without announcing that it is bogus.

NEW YORK, May 19.—A special to the Tribune dated headquarters of the Army of the Potomac, May 18th, one o clock P M, says

The desultory fighting which commenced at daybreak, has grown into a considerable battle The enemy discovering the changes of position that had been made last night, took advantage of the same, and were found to have massed all their strength on our right, designing, doubtless, to make another desperate assault to break our lines and get at our supply trains This movement of the enemy occasioned the re-occupation of our old position of yesterday In the effort to do this, the 2d corps occupying our extreme right, became engaged and the struggle was kept up with more or less severity till noon to day Our troops advanced to within very close range of their earthworks, when a murderous fire of artillery was opened, occasioning considerable loss, but our guns were soon got into position, and under cover of their fire we charged, took the first line of rifle pits, captured a considerable number of prisoners and several of their guns

At the present writing there is a cessation of firing Indications are that there will be no more fighting until to morrow The rebel loss is believed to be greater than ours, notwithstanding momentary advantage of their artillery range upon us.

WASHINGTON, May 13—Morrill from the Committee of Conference on the disagreeing vote on the bill erecting a territorial government for Montana reported, recommending the Senate to recede from its amendment, striking out the words "every free white inhabitant," in the qualification of voters, and inserting "all citizens of the United States" and those who have declared their intentions to become citizens The report was adopted by 13 majority

The House passed the Senate bill amendatory of act authorizing Nevada to form a State Government It changes the time for submitting a vote to the people to the 1st day of September.

WASHINGTON, May 19—Reports received from Gen Sherman's command, dated Kingston Ga., 2 P M, announced that Sherman had reached Kingston, and encamped last night. This morning he advanced upon the enemy who again retreated

A dispatch states that while it was being written, Hooker's and Howard's guns were hammering at Johnston and the two armies were in plain sight of each other two miles east of Kingston.

Davis division of 14th corps is in possession of Rome Sherman reports weather pleasant, roads good, and country open and less mountainous

[Signed] STANTON.

BERMUDA HUNDRED, May 19—On Monday the rebels came out of their entrenchments in front of Fort Darling and made three advances, all of which were repulsed promptly and energetically, with loss of 1 500, while our loss was slight

Butler having learned that Beauregard was heavily reinforced, and learning from Richmond papers that several miles of the Danville Railroad was destroyed, and that the locks, dams and canals leading to Richmond were also destroyed, decided to fall back to Fort Darling, and gave orders accordingly Our army securely arrived behind our own lines of entrenchment. Several of Longstreet's men were captured who stated that his whole army was co operating with Beauregard

The object of our demonstration against Fort Darling was a feint for the purpose of drawing off as many of Lee's troops as possible and also to attract the attention of the rebel force in and about Richmond to enable General Kurtz to move and destroy communications,

NEW YORK May 20—A special Washington dispatch to the Commercial says the Senate committee have reported against taking stocks of whiskey on hand

The House committee on ways and means have the tariff bill ready. It corresponds with increased tax bill and shows an average of 40 per cent above previous rates

Advices from North Carolina state that the rebels are enforcing conscription in Beaufort City and Washington and Terrill counties There is a rebel flotilla of 13 barges each having a howitzer and 20 men in Chowan river

The ram Albemarle was so badly injured in the engagement of May 5th that she had been sent up the river for repairs

NEW YORK May 20—A dispatch dated Headquarters Army of the Potomac, Wednesday evening May 18th says At 5 o clock this morning the sixth corps supported by Hancock's division on the right and Burnside's on the left advanced against the enemy's work The rifle pits in front were those which had been abandoned by us and were filled with rebel sharpshooters who were soon dislodged and driven through the second line and behind thick and impenetrable works of most formidable character On examination it was deemed best not to make an attempt to charge through this barricade and the troops fell back in good order exposed to a galling fire of shot and shell from both flanks Our loss was about 500 killed wounded and missing

An attack was made by the enemy on the left in the afternoon, where Warren had posted our batteries and the rebels were soon driven back and their guns silenced All was quiet at six o clock P M

A later dispatch dated the 18th 6 o clock A M says We have just received intelligence that Jenny Station on the Fredericksburg and Richmond Railroad was entered last night by our scouts, who captured the telegraph office and station A large quantity of supplies were also captured.

The Herald's Washington special says the action on Wednesday at Spottsylvania resulted in a success for Grant in gaining the advantage in his position over the enemy This was the object of Grant's attack Our entire loss will not exceed one thousand killed wounded and missing The attack was made to compel the enemy to accept a battle beyond his fortifications

The Washington Star states that skirmishing with the enemy for the last few days has been in Grant's favor but a battle is not imminent.

The large number of prisoners taken on Wednesday, go to show that the rebels are in want of supplies

A dispatch from Gawley Bridge gives an account of a brilliant victory by Gen Averill on the 8th with the main body of Crook's army Averill had reached a point within four miles of Wytheville and here encountered the enemy, 4 000 strong under Sam Jones The fight lasted four hours but he succeeded in driving them back killing and wounding many and capturing a number of prisoners The rebels retreated under cover of the darkness Our loss was 120 Averill then effectually destroyed the railroad thence to a point four miles east of Christianburg At this place a small body of rebels were encountered who hastily retreated

John Mulony was arrested at Columbus by the U S Marshal and brought to this city The cause of his arrest is not stated

WASHINGTON, May 20th—Among the numerous amendments to the Internal Revenue Act reported by the Senate Committee are the following Collection Districts are made equal in number to Representatives in Congress penalty for refusal to make returns of property to assessors is increased to fifty per cent of the tax Tax on distilled spirits remains unchanged excepting $1 25 per gallon charged from October 1st instead of July 1st The penalty for manufacturing tobacco and cigars without permit is increased to $300 and imprisonment for one year.

This information is from Confederate officers through our special despatch to the Evening Bulletin this evening

LETTER FROM GEN MEADE —The following interesting letter from General Meade, addressed to the Committee in charge of the Sanitary Fair in Philadelphia, pays a pleasant tribute to the Sanitary Commission

HEADQUARTERS ARMY POTOMAC, April 8, 1864
L Montgomery Bond—Dear Sir I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your communication of the 6th inst, inclosing circulars of the "Committee on Labor Incomes and Revenues of the Great Central Fair for the United States Sanitary Commission I feel very much flattered and complimented at the honor conferred on me by placing my name as one of the honorary members of this important Committee

It is hardly necessary for me to assure you that I am with you heart and soul in the great work of benevolence and charity which you have entered on

It has been my duty to inquire as to the practical working and benefit of the United States Sanitary Commission, and it affords me great pleasure to bear testimony, so far as this army is concerned to the inestimable benefits and blessings conferred by this noble association on the suffering sick and wounded soldiers

A few facts in connection with this point may be of use to you At the battle of Gettysburg the number of wounded of our army alone amounted by official reports, to thirteen thousand seven hundred and thirteen those of the enemy left on the field were estimated by our medical officers as amounting to eight thousand This would make in all nearly twenty two thousand suffering beings requiring immediate care and attention to save life.

Few people can realize such large numbers, but if you tell them that should they fill and pack your Academy of Music in Philadelphia (which holds, I believe, some thirty five hundred people) six times, and then imagine every soul in this immense crowd wounded, they will have a chance idea of the great work for humanity on the field of Gettysburg

Now, although the Government is most liberal and generous in all its provisions for the sick and wounded yet it is impossible to keep constantly on hand either the personnel or supplies required in an emergency of this kind.

In addition to this difficulty at Gettysburg, I was compelled to pursue the retreating foe, and as I expected in a few days to have another battle at some distant point it was absolutely necessary I should carry away the greater portion of my surgeons and medical supplies so that the wounded at Gettysburg were, in a measure dependent upon such extra assistance as the Government could hastily collect, and upon the generous aid so cheerfully and promptly afforded by the Sanitary and Christian Commissions and the various State and Soldiers' Aid Societies All the additional aid from every source was here most urgently needed, and it gives me great pleasure to say that, from the reports of my medical officers, I am satisfied the United States Sanitary Commission as well as the others above named, were fully up to the work before them

What has occurred in the past may occur in the future There is no nobler or holier work of Christian love or charity, and if the voice of the brave soldiers are of any influence you may rest assured, you have their hearty wishes and earnest prayers,

Most respectfully and truly yours
GEORGE G MEADE
Major General Commanding Army of the Potomac

NEW YORK May 13—The Times' correspondence from Bermuda Hundreds dated May 10th, says that in the course of the morning Gen Butler received a flag of truce from the enemy, signed Gen Bushrod Johnson containing three propositions 1st—Asking permission to come into our lines to remove the wounded and dead; 2d—Asking an exchange of wounded; 3d—Asking a general exchange of prisoners To the first Gen Butler replied that the work was already done to the second he announced himself perfectly willing to assent, and to the third he replied that no exchange of well and healthy prisoners could be effected until the Confederate authorities acknowledge colored soldiers as prisoners of war

On the 11th towards evening, an engagement took place between one of our gunboats on the Appomatox and the fortifications near Petersburg—a shot from which blew up the Gen Graham, an armed steamer and the B cester This makes the third vessel we have lost Our shells the next day were thrown into the fort with great precision The opposing force was feeble

CHAIN LIGHTNING STYLE —The Knoxville Whig and Rebel Ventilator, (Parson Brownlow's paper,) contains the following in reference to the rebels under Chalmers who butchered the garrison of Fort Pillow after it had surrendered

Had we our wish we would throw hell wide open, and place all such beast like officers and men upon an inclined plane at an angle of forty-five degrees the plane with a wicket at the bottom and send them as one stream of traitors robbers and assassins into the hottest part of the infernal regions

The Library Association.—We have been furnished with a copy of the printed constitution and by-laws of the Library Association of Portland, organized in February last. The pamphlet contains eighteen pages, very neatly printed. The constitution was commented upon at the time of its adoption by the Association, in the Oregonian, but it may not be inappropriate at this time to mention some of the provisions regarding membership. Any person, resident in the city, may become a full member of the Association, by signing an agreement to abide by its constitution and by-laws, and by paying a fee for initiation of five dollars, and quarterly dues at the rate of three dollars a quarter—all payable in coin, in advance. By paying one hundred dollars any person may become a full member for life, and if a resident of the city of Portland be entitled to all the privileges without the payment of quarterly dues. Non-residents wishing to enjoy the privileges of the reading room and use of the library, can do so upon the same requirements asked of residents, but in addition must deposit with the Librarian the value in money of the books they wish to draw, or if one of a set, the value of the set, the deposit to be returned, on the safe return of the book. Honorary members are not entitled to the right to vote and hold office, full members only can take part in the business of the Association and they must be personally present. The rooms of the Association are now well fitted up and ready to receive the first invoice, which will consist of all the varieties of periodicals and papers that could be purchased in San Francisco, which are expected to arrive on the next steamer. Some few thousand dollars have already been deposited to the credit of the Association, in New York, and books for the amount will be received as early as possible.

The Dedication.—The religious exercises at the Presbyterian Church yesterday morning were attended by a crowded audience, and were deeply interesting. The Scripture was read by Rev. President Marsh, of Forest Grove, who also offered prayer. Rev. Mr. Atkinson preached an eloquent and instructive sermon, from texts found in the 6th and 7th verses of the 56th chapter of Isaiah, and the 17th verse of the 11th chapter of the Gospel of St. Mark. After a brief statement from the Clerk of the Society of the cost of the church and the receipts therefor from various sources, corresponding with our report on Saturday, and a short history of the organization and progress of the church, given by Rev. Mr. Caffrey, the Pastor, the solemn prayer of dedication was made by him, and the new edifice was consecrated to the worship of Almighty God. The singing, conducted by Mr. Wyatt, was excellent and admirably appropriate to the occasion; indeed, all the services seemed to be appreciated by and to give entire satisfaction to the large number in attendance.

Accident to the Steamer New World.—The main shaft of the steamer New World was broken on Saturday morning, when about six miles above Fort Vancouver, on her trip to the Cascades. The Julia was sent to her relief upon the arrival of the steamer F—ower with intelligence of the accident, when the freight was transferred and the disabled steamer returned. It will be likely to lay her up for several months, as the repairs to the shaft will be made in San Francisco. In the course of a few days the Wilson G. Hunt will again be placed upon the line, until which time the Senator will be employed in the carrying trade of the O. S. N. Company between Portland and the Cascades.

The Steamer Pacific.—We learn that the Pacific passed the Columbia river, on Friday, on her way to Victoria. She communicated with the pilot boat, and sent a file of late San Francisco papers to Wells, Fargo & Co., who have kindly given them to us. They contain, however, no news of special interest, as our telegraph reports have been as full during the past week as those sent to California. The Pacific, if not in port when we go to press, may be expected this evening.

Lost Child.—A little boy was picked up on First street, near Columbia, on Saturday afternoon, crying piteously because he was lost. As he was being taken to the Marshal's office for recognition, he was accidentally discovered by an uncle, who took him in charge. The child's parents lived eighty miles from the city, and had come to town to market, losing the child in the street.

Accident to the Steamer Relief.—The main shaft of the steamer Relief was broken on Friday, on the downward trip, when about six miles above the mouth of the Yamhill. The steamer was tied up and the shaft taken out, which was brought down the next day on the steamer Enterprise, with the freight and passengers. Repairs will be made in this city.

The Excursions.—The excursions came off according to notice yesterday, with the exception of the steamer Cowlitz, which made a special trip to Monticello Saturday night, that delayed the trip to the Salt Works. The large crowd attending these rides shows that they were at least popular, if not altogether proper. No accidents occurred, and everybody appeared satisfied with their enjoyments.

Correction.—In the report of the proceedings of the Clarke county Union Convention, as published last week, an error accidentally occurred, which we cheerfully correct. The third resolution should read: "That we will band ourselves into one Union League, &c." It was printed our instead of one.

Thriving Driving.—The rush of business on the Macadamized road yesterday was much greater than for any previous day during the present season. Gate keepers were waiting on vehicles almost incessantly for two hours before sun down. We hear of but two or three jobs for wagon makers.

Oregon City Trade.—The steamer Rival will take the place of the Senator in the P. T. Co.'s line to Oregon City, this morning. She has been very nicely fitted up, and looks about as good as new. The time of leaving is at 7 o'clock A. M.

Cargo of the Jenny Jones.—The cargo of the schooner Jenny Jones has turned out better than was at first expected. Of 113 tons of iron shipped, 40 tons arrived safe, and a large amount of the merchandise is saved.

Appointments.—Amos Harvey, who has been a sub-agent at the Alsea Indian Agency, has been appointed full agent, and will be stationed at Grand Ronde. Mr. Collins takes his place at Alsea.

Arrival.—The bark Industry, 19 days from San Francisco, arrived in tow of the steamer John H. Couch on Saturday. Capt. Corno furnishes us with the following memoranda and freight list:

Memoranda.—Bark Industry, Capt. Corno Master, left San Francisco for Portland, May 2d, at 2 o'clock P. M. On the 17th, at 12 o'clock, the Russian flag ship Pae Pae passed in latitude 45° 40' N., longitude 124° 50' W., bound north. We were becalmed. Crossed Columbia Bar on the 19th, 8 A. M. Arrived in Portland on the 21st at 4 o'clock P. M.

Consignees—Per bark Industry—Knapp, Burrell & Co., 521 packages agricultural implements; E. L. & Co., 25 cases turpentine; Failings & Hatt, 361 pkgs merchandise; B. T. Smith, 100 bbls lime; B. & Co., 16 pks sugar; Smith & Davis, 179 pks merchandise; Henry Wichhart, 100 sacks barley; Milwaine & Morse, 174 pkgs stoves and hardware; A. Vancouver, 45 cases; Richards & McCraken, 693 sks salt; S B & Co, Milwaukie, 112 pkgs merchandise; Fitch & Co., Dalles, 2 do.

The Cascadilla.—A fine pair of engines, 10 inch cylinders, and 4 feet stroke, will be completed at the Oregon Iron Works this week, for the steamer Cascadilla, to run on the Columbia river above Celilo.

The steamer Rescue advertises to make through trips to the Cascades, from Oregon City.

PUBLIC SPEAKING.

The Multnomah County Candidates of the Union Party will address their fellow-citizens at the following times and places, to wit:

Sandy Precinct, Saturday, May 28, at Wilmot Schoolhouse;
Willamette Precinct, Monday, May 30, at Mr. Love's;
Powell's Valley, Tuesday, May 31, at White Schoolhouse;
Multnomah Precinct, Wednesday, June 1;
Sauvie's Island Precinct, Thursday, June 2;
St. Johns Precinct, Friday, June 3d;
Speaking to commence at 1 o'clock P. M.
Portland, Saturday evening, June 4th.

We speak from experience when we say that, after having tried all the principal sewing machines, we must accord to that of Grover & Baker the pre-eminence. Those indispensable features of sewing—strength, uniformity and elasticity—all of which are brought out in this incomparable invention, make it the first sewing machine in the country.—New York Christian Advocate and Journal.

J. W. J. Pierson is agent for this city.

Notice.—The Presbyterian Church will be opened on Monday morning, the 23d inst., from 10 to 2 o'clock, to give persons an opportunity to select seats. We shall commence letting the seats at 2 o'clock, P. M. Terms quarterly in advance. By order of the Board of Trustees,

H. W. CORBETT, Sec'y.

Portland, May 2[illegible], 1864.

Not too Good.—If you buy the best you buy the cheapest. Shelby has the best, most general and well selected stock of boots and shoes to be seen in this market. We do not propose to advise, but an examination of his stock before buying elsewhere is our reasonable conclusion.

Dropsies.—There is no disease in which the PERUVIAN SYRUP has achieved greater wonders than in Dropsy of the abdomen and the limbs, whether occasioned by disease of the liver, or of the kidneys. It stimulates the absorbents to take up the effused fluids, increases the urinary and cutaneous secretions, and gives tone to the stomach and intestines, thus removing both cause and consequences in these affections.

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.—The operation of this palatable remedy upon the stomach, liver and excretory organs is singularly soothing and conservative. It regulates, recruits and purifies them. Dyspepsia in all its forms yields to its control and invigorating properties, and it is recommended to mothers, enfeebled by the cares and duties of maternity, as the safest and best tonic they can probably use. In all the crisis of female life it will be found eminently useful, and elderly persons will derive much more benefit from it than from ordinary stimulants.—Sold by all Druggists and Dealers everywhere. ap26d1m

War's Changes

The wedded, unwed—the loves that are dead
The sonless mother—the [illegible] wid
The tears that are shed—the hearts that have bled
Are more than the battle's myriad.

There's Isabell Clare—I remember well
The blushing bride of a year [illegible]
When a young man stood [illegible] the stairs—
Husband and wife just a year [illegible]
But he lies asleep [illegible] bled
And Isabell Clare [illegible]
O, Isabell Clare, is [illegible]
And does the [illegible]

There's the Widow Gray [illegible]
When she leaned on a youth, [illegible] arm,
A smile on her lip when he was [illegible] with him,
O so sweet and tender a dream!
But now all is changed and the house is closed
So dark and silent over the way
And nobody sees [illegible] except [illegible]
When a dark figure kneels to pray.

There was Elleanor Vane—a sweet pale girl
With a heart as true as the sword
The Sergeant who went with Company B,
Bore her loves away with his sword
But the Sergeant was killed in Tennessee,
And Elleanor Vane lies alone
Beneath the snow and the wind and the rain,
Without a memorial stone.

And Mary the merriest maiden girl
The daughter of old John Blane
In love and out over a thousand times,
Trying somebody's heart to break
But somebody went away to the war
And Mary grew sober and staid
And somebody says if he never comes back
That Mary will die an old maid

O, the wedded unwed—the loves that are dead,
The sonless mother—the widowed
The tears that are shed—the hearts that have bled
Are more than the battle's myriad

—California Farmer

Speaking his Mind

Old Deacon Hobbhouse had a habit of frequently thinking aloud Especially if any matter troubled him, he had to talk it over with himself before his peace of mind could be restored One day he was alone in his barn, pitching hay from the scaffold to the mow, when his neighbor Stevens went to find him Stevens heard a voice and listened It was the Deacon talking to himself! He was condemning in the strongest terms the extravagance of the minister's wife

"She sets a worse example than Satan!" exclaimed the Deacon, by way of climax

And having freed his mind he was preparing to come down from the loft, when Stevens glided out of the barn, and came in again just as the Deacon landed on the floor

"How d'ye do, Deacon?" cried Stevens "I want to borrow your half bushel an hour or two."

"O, sartin, sartin," said the Deacon The measure was put into the neighbor's hands, and he departed

It was a peaceful community, the minister's wife was an excellent woman, notwithstanding her love for finery, and Deacon Hobhouse was of all men the least disposed to make trouble in the society Hence a sensation was produced when the report circulated that he had used almost blasphemous language in speaking of that amiable lady The sweetest tempered woman would not like to hear of a grave and influential Deacon declaring that 'she sets a worse example than Satan!' The minister's wife, whose ear was in due time approached by the report, felt in a degree incensed, and sent her husband to deal with the old man

The latter was astonished when told of the charge against him

"I never said so!" he solemnly averred

"You are quite positive that you never did?" said the minister,

"Heaven above us knows it's false as false can be!" exclaimed the Deacon "Whatever thoughts I may have had of your wife's extravagance—and I am now free to say I do think she has set our wives and daughters a running after new bonnets and shawls and such vanities—and whatever thoughts I have had I never mentioned them to a living soul, never!"

The good man's earnestness quite convinced the minister that he had been falsely reported It was therefore necessary to dig to the root of the scandal Mrs Brown who told the minister's wife, had heard Mrs Jones say, that Mr. Adams said that Deacon Hobhouse said so, and Mr Adams being applied to, stated that he had the report from Stevens, who said that "he heard" the Deacon say so Stevens was accordingly brought up for examination, and confronted with the Deacon

"It's an outrageous falsehood!" said the Deacon "You know, Stevens, I never opened my lips to you on the subject—nor to any other man"

"I heard you say," remarked Stevens, coolly, "that the minister's wife set a worse example than Satan—and I can take my oath to it"

"When, where?" demanded the excited Deacon

"In your barn," replied Stevens, "when I went to borrow your half bushel"

"There never was such a lie, Stevens—Stevens, said the quivering Deacon—"you know—"

"Wait till I explain," interrupted neighbor Stevens "I was on the barn floor—you were on the scaffold, pitching hay and talking to yourself I thought it too good to keep so just for a joke, I told what I heard you say."

The Deacon scratched his head, looked humbled and admitted that he might in that way have used the language attributed to him To avoid trouble in the society, he afterwards went to apologize to the minister's wife

"You must consider," said he, "that I was talking to myself and when I talk to myself, "I am apt to speak my mind very freely"

A KENTUCKY VIEW OF THE PRESIDENCY —The following is an extract from a speech lately made at Lexington, Kentucky by Hon Green Clay Smith, one of the unconditional Union representatives of the State

We have arrived again near the period for electing another President. I do not know who will be the nominee of the Baltimore Convention, though I have a pretty good idea who it will be I intend to go to the Baltimore Convention, and stand by its nominee. Whoever he may be it is my honest belief he will carry the State of Kentucky We must crush the rebellion for our own safety That done, harmony will soon unite us together We see in the history of the war repeated instances of the [illegible] fraternization which takes place on the battlefield between our men and the rebels immediately after a victory The same result will be seen when the rebellion is crushed For the masses, the speaker would grant an amnesty, for the leaders, none. He had no desire to live with them again. When Grant Meade, Sherman and Rosecrans have finished their work, then another famous Kentucky general will come in for a share of the work—Gen. Henry [Cheers.] The punishment of these arch traitors must be so terrible that no leaders will ever dare to enter upon the work of rebellion again.

WILLING TO RECIPROCATE —The Old Piute, published at Virginia, (N T), relates the following

Uncle J S resides in Washoe county, and is an honest, practical, plain spoken man Some years since he was keeping a hotel and had a Spanish lady residing with him as cook, or superintendent She took sick and died, and the neighbors gathered in to assist at the funeral obsequies The coffin was lowered into the grave, and after two shovels of earth had been deposited on it S, in accordance with a time honored New York custom, with a tear in his eye in a deep tone of voice exclaimed "My Christian friends this woman was a mighty good one for her kind, and for your kindness to me on this solemn occasion I hope it won't be long before I can be able to return you all the same compliment

UNITED STATES HOMESTEAD LAW —The following is an official copy of this law passed at the first session of the Thirty eighth Congress and forwarded by the correspondent of the Sacramento [illegible] at Washington

An Act amendatory of the Homestead Law and for other purposes

Be it enacted, by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled That in case of any person desirous of availing himself of the benefits of the [illegible] Act of twentieth of May eighteen hundred and sixty two but who, by reason of actual service in the military or naval service of the United States is unable to do the personal preliminary acts at the District Land Offices which the said Act of twentieth of May eighteen hundred and sixty two requires and whose family or some members thereof is residing on the land which he desires to enter, and upon which a bona fide improvement and settlement have been made it shall and may be lawful for such person to make the affidavit required by said Act before the officer commanding in the branch of the service in which the party may be engaged which affidavit shall be as binding in law, and with like penalties as if taken before the Register or Receiver and upon such affidavit being filed with the Register by the wife or other representative of the party, the same shall become effective from the date of such filing provided the said application and affidavit are accompanied by the fee and commissions as required by law

Sec 2 And be it further enacted That besides the ten dollar fee exacted by the said Act the homestead applicant shall hereafter pay to the Register and Receiver each, as commissions at the time of entry, one per centum upon the cash price as fixed by law of the land applied for and like commissions when the claim is finally established and the certificate therefor issued as the basis of a patent

Sec 3 And be it further enacted That in any case hereafter in which the applicant for the benefit of the homestead and whose family or some member thereof is residing on the land which he desires to enter and upon which a bona fide improvement and settlement have been made is prevented by reason of distance bodily infirmity or other good cause from personal attendance at the District Land Office, it shall and may be lawful for him to make affidavit required by the original statute before the clerk of the Court for the county in which the applicant is an actual resident, and to transmit the same with the fee and commissions to the Register and Receiver

Sec. 4. And be it further enacted That in lieu of the fee allowed by the twelfth section of the Preemption Act of 4th September, 1841, the Register and Receiver shall be entitled to one dollar for their services in acting upon pre-emption claims, and shall be allowed, jointly, at the rate of fifteen cents per hundred words for the testimony which may be reduced by them to writing for claimants in establishing pre-emption or homestead rights the regulations for giving proper effect to the provisions of this Act to be prescribed by the Commissioner of the General Land Office

Sec 5 And be it further enacted That where a pre-emptor has taken the initiatory steps required by existing laws in regard to actual settlement and is called away from such settlement by being actually engaged in the military or naval service of the United States and by reason of such absence is unable to appear at the District Land Office to make before the Register or Receiver the affidavits required by the thirteenth section of the Pre-emption Act of September 4 1841 the time for filing such affidavit and making final proof and entry or location shall be extended six months after the expiration of his term of service, upon satisfactory proof by affidavit or the testimony of witnesses that the said pre emptor is so in the service being filed with the Register of the Land Office for the district in which his settlement is made

Sec 6 And be it further enacted That the Registers and Receivers in the State of California in the State of Oregon and in the Territories of Washington, Nevada Colorado New Mexico and Arizona, shall be entitled to collect and receive in addition to the fees and allowances provided by this Act, fifty per cent of said fees and allowances as compensation for their services provided that the salary and fees allowed any Register or Receiver shall not exceed in the aggregate the sum of $3 000 per annum

Approved March 21 1864

THE EMANCIPATION PROCLAMATION—THE FIRST DRAFT—THE LAST SENTENCE SUPPLIED BY CHASE We take the following from the Washington correspondence of the Cincinnati Gazette

A recent allusion in the Independent to the fact that Secretary Chase's pen supplied the concluding sentence of the emancipation proclamation has been received with a surprise that indicates a less general knowledge on the subject than might have been expected When the final draft of the proclamation was presented by the President to the Cabinet, it closed with the paragraph stating that the slaves it liberated would be received into the armed service of the United States Chase objected to the appearance of a document of such momentous importance without one word beyond the dry phrases necessary to convey its meaning and finally proposed that there should be added to the President's draft the following sentence:

"And upon this act, sincerely believed to be an act of justice, warranted by the Constitution, I invoke the considerate judgment of mankind and the gracious favor of Almighty God.

Lincoln adopted the sentence as Chase wrote it, only interlining after the word "Constitution the words upon military necessity, and in that form the proclamation went to the world and history The President originally resolved upon the policy of issuing this proclamation in the Summer of 1862 As he has expressed it himself everything was going wrong, we seemed to have put forth about our utmost effort and he really didn't know what more to do unless he did this Accordingly he prepared the preliminary proclamation nearly in the form in which it subsequently appeared, called the Cabinet together and read it to them

Montgomery Blair was startled He said "Mr President, if you issue that proclamation, you will lose every one of the Fall elections"

Seward, on the other hand said

"I approve it, Mr President just as it stands I approve it in principle, and I approve the policy of issuing it. I only object to the time Send it out now, on the heels of our late disasters, and it will be construed as the convulsive struggle of a drowning man To give it proper weight you should reserve it till after some victory"

The President assented to Seward's view and it was withheld till the Fall, when it was issued almost precisely as originally prepared The one to which Chase supplied the concluding sentence was the final proclamation, issued on the subsequent 1st of January

BUTTER —New York butter deserves just now a paragraph to itself It never was so strong, and it never was so salt and it never was so dear This morning it was sixty five cents per pound to morrow it may be yet dearer Economical housewives are diminishing their consumption of the article to one-half, a few do without it altogether while, of course, to the very poor it is an impossible luxury This state of things is not necessary It is the result of a rascally combination on the part of dealers and if we did right, by refusing to use the article at its present price for a month we could bring it down to a reasonable price and place it within the reach of everybody once more. No mother can think of other and poorer mothers' children deprived of the infantile luxury of bread and butter without feeling uncomfortable Dry bread may satisfy the craving for food but it is a diet we would not fancy ourselves to say the least of it, and if we had the golden rule at heart, we would all deprive ourselves for a little while for the sake of our neighbors It is not likely that this will be done in New York however for while some of its citizens are doing without the necessaries of life others revel in luxury—and at Taylor's, Thompson's Mallard's and other fashionable restaurants strawberries are sold bought and eaten at one dollar a dozen every day An 'almighty dollar for twelve berries —think of it If the plan we propose is not adopted—or the war does not end—or something does not happen of an unexpected nature—butter will we presume continue to go up until it becomes a luxury as great as the April hothouse strawberries and we are charged a dollar for a knife full

A STERN JOKE —The Second Corps of the Army of the Potomac does not take very kindly its merging into the Third Corps, for though it still retains its corps badge the shamrock, the pride of organization and family name are gone The other day the consolidated corps was ordered out on parade, and that portion of it which belonged to the Second Corps appeared with their badge in the usual place upon the right breast but with the Third Corps lozenge fastened upon the seat of their trowsers It cannot be denied that they sternly obeyed orders —Sac Union

THE LOYALTY OF ODD FELLOWSHIP —The Grand Lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, of California which assembled at Sacramento on Tuesday of last week has adopted the following sentiments in a series of resolutions that it passed

"That the unity of the organization of the Order of Odd Fellows in the United States of America depends upon the unity of the Government of said States, that all attempts to dissever the unity of said Government under whatsoever pretext, are destructive of the union of Odd Fellowship heretofore existing in our Order, that any hostile attempt to destroy the unity of the States is adverse to the principles of love and fraternity inculcated by the teachings of our Order, that the first duty, personally, as well as in organized bodies of our Order is to recognize the authority of the Grand Lodge of the United States, and that any brother refusing such recognition or obedience is unfaithful to the duties and obligations assumed when becoming a member of this Order that the Grand Lodge of California respectfully requests all Lodges within its jurisdiction to use every effort for the restoration of the Union of the United States under one Government, and the re establishment over all the domains of said States of the undisputed authority of the Grand Lodge of the United States

"Resolved, That this Grand Lodge will never consent to a separation of the Order, or countenance any division of the American Republic

"Resolved, That we believe that all brethren who have, by word or deed separated themselves from the jurisdiction of the Grand Lodge of the United States or aided or assisted by such word or deed in the disintegration of American Nationality, are unfaithful members of the Order, regardless of their solemn pledges, and unworthy of association in the Order of Odd Fellows"

FATE OF A MURDERER —The Napa Reporter thus narrates the circumstances which led to the shooting and killing of one Williams at Eel River Humboldt county, on 10th April last

He went by the name of Williams though his real name is H Burton, and he came to Mendocino county some two years ago He was accused of stealing in some of the southern counties in California, about three years ago, $1,650 from one Ward and fled with it to parts unknown Ward, some time ago, moved to Eel River and recognized Williams, and related the above circumstances, which, coming to the knowledge of Williams, he confided to a man by the name of Maynard his intention to put Ward out of the way who informed the latter to put him on his guard In revenge, Williams, killed Maynard last January, and threw his body into Eel River, and then gathered up his stock and fled to Oregon He was pursued by three men who did not succeed in overtaking him He heard of the fact and threatened their lives. In April he returned to Eel River and stopped at a neighbor's, stating his intention to kill these men He had a camp in the brush living with an Indian woman, and remained hid there for a number of days watching an opportunity to get a shot at them They, learning of his presence, determined to arrest him and bring him to justice. At an appointed time they secretly approached his hiding place Williams, on seeing them raised his rifle to shoot, but one of the party was too quick for him and shot him through the body. He started to run, when another of the number fired and shot him dead While staying in the brush he confided to the neighbor from whom he got his "grub" that he had killed a woman in Oregon was arrested and escaped, and had traveled at nights, laying by in the day, until he had arrived at his old place of habitation His face and hands were badly scratched, as he stated, traveling through the chapparal in the dark On searching his camp, a gold watch and a couple of gold bracelets were found, which it is supposed belonged to the woman he had murdered and robbed in Oregon These may be obtained by addressing George H Woodman, Long Valley, Mendocino county, and proving property

PACKING AND GRADING WOOL —On this subject the April circular contains the following extracts from letters written by North & Lynch, wool brokers in New York

NEW YORK, Dec 22, 1863 —In regard to pressing wool so far as the owner is concerned we should recommend it being done both on account of the freight and condition of bales They open in beautiful order The only objection is we cannot see wool so well in the bales as when packed in round bags; but if the wool is well graded and honestly put up it does not make much difference. We should recommend you to pack with your presses as reliance can be put in your grading and packing

NEW YORK, Jan 11, 1864.—We have always been in favor of putting up wools in square bales It saves freight, and is in every respect better than packing in round bags We think it is a saving also in the loss of wool The round bags are so roughly handled before they reach store that there is more loss than in square bales, in fact there is no important objection to packing in this way, and a good many reasons in favor of it We should make no difference between Spring and Fall wools you can press both equally alike We would therefore recommend to pack all by presses

NEW YORK Jan 20 1864.—We have written fully respecting the mode of packing wool, and decide in favor of compressing We advise you to keep your old grading marks they are favorably known and you cannot have any better

A witty fellow happening to step into a little ale house one day, called for a glass of the refreshing beverage After drinking it, he said to the landlady, with the air of one who has some important secret to communicate—"Mrs D, I can tell you how to sell a good deal more ale than you do" "How's that?" she asked. "Don't sell so much froth," was the reply
